AN ALLEGED NUISANCE

QUESTION REFERRED TO ATTORNEY

FOR THE DISTRICT.

Proceedings Against House Owner-Action of the Health Office in the Matter.

There was recently referred to the attorney for the District the case of Mrs. Martha A. Keyes of Linden, Md., the owner of premises 1310 I street, whose attention has been called to the alleged insanitary condition of said premises by reason, it was charged, of foul water accumulating in the cellar because of an obstructed sewer. The Commissioners requested their attorney to advise them whether the notice mailed

Mrs. Keyes was sufficient to authorize proceedings under section 26 of the ordinance to revise, consolidate and amend the ordinances of the board of health. It is stated that the tenant of the premises in question was notified to abate the nuisance, and having failed to do so was prosecuted in the Police Court, where the case was dismissed. Thereupon, the 1st of last mouth, the health officer mailed a tice to Mrs. Keyes, calling attention to the existence of the nuisance, and notifying her to abate it within four days thereafter. She was also informed that if she failed to do so the health department would proceed to cause its abatement and collect the cost in the manner provided by Section 26 referred to by the attorney for the District relates, he states, solely such things as are declared thereby to be nuisances, the only paragraph in the ordi-nances embracing such a case as the one in question being paragraph 9. But this paragraph, says the attorney, with two others, Congress expressly refused to indorse by its joint resolution legalizing the health ordinances approved August 28, 1874, and there does not appear to him to be any other ordinance or regulation declaring such a condition as the one under consideration to be a nuisance, although a like condition upon an open lot is declared, he explains, to be a nuisance by section 1 of the "legalized ordinances."

Provisions of Joint Resolution.

Under the joint resolution of February 26, 1892, the Commissioners are empowered to make regulations necessary for the protection of the public health, and their attorney, therefore, holds they are authorized to make regulations which would reach such a case as the one in question. They are also given, he says, by the act of Congress approved April 23, 1892, authority to make regulations for the maintenance in good order of house sewers, but neither the plumbing nor other regulations appear to their legal adviser to reach the case, even for the purposes of abatement.

"The health officer," says the attorney, "has power only to enforce regulations. However, if the condition of the premises is such as to endanger the public health, i.e. the health of persons in the vicinity. i. e., the health of persons in the vicinity, or is offensive by reason of foul odors to persons who may be in the vicinity, a public nuisance is considered to exist, even though in a private dwelling house, the proper authorities of the District may abate such a nuisance in a summary manner, though no authority for that purpose is given by statute.

Fixes No Liability.

notice given to the owner, Mrs. Keyes, by the health officer in the present case has no peculiar legal effect, so as to fix any penal liability upon her, but having actual notice of the nuisance, it became recovery of the expenses incurred on the promise implied by law. It was such an action as this that was brought against the Metropolitan Railroad Company by the District for the expense of paving streets, etc. But in this action against her nothing would be presumed in favor of the Disthe owner would be entitled to a interest, opening with a Haydn composition | trial of the question of the existence of the nuisance, the necessity of abatement without proceedings in court, and whether the expense incurred was reasonable, i. e. brilliance of technique. A parthat no good purpose would be served in making this case a precedent for future action, because the remedy for future cases would be more effective by framing a regulation to cover such cases."

JOSEF HOFMANN.-No longer the boy phenomenon, but a full-fledged planist asking odds of no one, Josef Hoffmann appeared yesterday afternoon at the National Theater. Bishop Safterlee Invites Discussion of Sunday Theatricals.

According to a letter received by District Commissioner Ross, Bishop Satterlee of the diocese of Washington has invited fourteen of the local clergymen to a conference at his residence, 1407 Massachusetts avenue, Thursday afternoon next at 2 o'clock for the purpose of considering the subject of Sunday theatricals. Bishop Satterlee has been informed, it is said, that the opening of the local theaters on Sundays is being seriously considered, and believing that the preservation of the American Sabbath is a matter upon which the clergymen have deep convictions, he believes it would be well to have such a conference.

To this conference he invited Commissioner Ross, but the Commissioner has been compelled to decline the invitation because of a press of municipal business, stating in his letter of declination, however, that he is and always has been opposed to everything giving the appearance of Sabbath

It is stated that Bishop Satterlee is misinformed, it being understood that the local theater managers have no intention of Sunday performances at houses. In this connection it is stated that the recent act of Congress regulating li-censes to proprietors of places of amusement in the District has been transmitted Commissioners to Major Sylvester. the chief of police, for such suggestions as he may desire to make as to its enforcement.

The act provides that any license issued by the assessor of the District to the pro-proprietor of a theater or other public place of amusement in the District may be terminated by the Commissioners whenever it shall appear to them that, after due no person holding such license shall have failed to comply with such regulations as may be prescribed by them for the public decency.

Nine Years in Penitentiary.

Justice Barnard, in Criminal Court No. 1. late yesterday afternoon sentenced Frank Freeman, colored, indicted for larceny and for assault with intent to kill, to imprisonment for a total of nine years in the penitentiary at Moundsville, W. Va. Freeman when being pursued recently by Policeman Robey, who wanted him to answer the charge of larceny, turned and fired a pistol at the policeman. The bullet struck the badge worn by the policeman, and that fact in all probability saved his life.

The defendant pleaded guilty under the indictment alleging assault with intent to kill, but went to trial on the charge of stealing a bicycle. He was promptly con-victed. The sentence in the assault to kill case was six years, two years less than the limit, and in the larceny case three years.

SAINT PATRICK'S DAY

ARRANGEMENTS FOR THE OBSERV-

ANCE OF ANNIVERSARY.

Two Banquets to Be Given Monday Night by Two New Societies.

St. Patrick's day will be appropriately observed in both religious and a patriotic sense by the citizens of Irish extraction resident in the District. There will be two banquets, and the first celebration of the anniversary in the new century will be further marked by the organization of two new societies. One of these, the Society of the Friendly Sons of St. Patrick, will be formed at the banquet to be given next Monday night at Rauscher's, for which a committee, headed by Mr. D. I. Murphy, has made the arrangements. A business meeting will precede the banquet, which is to begin at 8 o'clock. Vice President Roosevelt has been invited to attend. Senator Hawley is to respond to the toast "The United States, the Abode of Freedom and the Abode of Civil and Religious Liberty." Rev. Dr. Shahan of the Catholic University will speak on "Ireland, the Land of Our Fa-thers." The Rev. Dr. Rooker, of the papal delegation will answer to "The Irishman in America." Rev. Dr. Stafford will also be present and will speak.

There will be vocal and instrumental music, and there is confident expectation that the coming dinner will surpass the event in commemoration of the anniversary last

The Shamrock Clab. The other new organization is the Shamrock Club, which draws its membership from all the local Irish societies. It will give a banquet Monday night at G. A. R. Hall. Mr. P. T. Moran, national treasurer of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, will preside and Col. M. Emmet Urell will be toastmaster. Prominent speakers will present and among them will be Rev. Patrick O'Donnell of Kerry, Ireland. The committee having arrangements in charge comprises M. P. Sullivan, Col. M. E. Urell, T. Moran, J. Cromwell, J. McEnerney, Frank O'Meara, Andrew Gleeson and John A. Gleeson Sunday Observances,

There will be special services at St. Patrick's Church Sunday. Solemn high mass will be celebrated at 11 o'clock, with Rev. Father Dulin as celebrant, Rev. Father Sallier deacon, Rev. P. I. O'Connell of St. Stephen's subdeacon, Father Daugherty of St. Augustine's and Mr. William Shreve masters of ceremonles. A sermon on St Patrick's life and work will be preached by Rev. Dr. Stafford. Archbishop Martinelli, the papal delegate, will assist in the ceremonies.

Gounod's "Messe Salonelle" will be sung by a largely augmented choir, and the solos will be sustained by Mrs. Blanche Mattingly Rogers, Miss Mamie Grant, Mr. Melville Hensey and Mr. Goodchild. Under the auspices of the Ancient Order

Maj. Sylvester, the chief of police, has submitted, with his recommendations, the records in certain trials of policemen, which recommendations, it is understood, the Commissioners will approve. In the case of Officer W. Is. A fine of $5 was recommended in the case of C. A. Lucas a special railroad crossing policeman, who was acquitted of intoxication, but found guilty of neglect of duty. He will be warned, however, that future neglect of duty will result more seriously to him. Like recommendations were made in the case of Officer L. P. Gouldman, found guilty of neglect of duty.

GAVE UP THE HAT.

Clara Holliday Went Bareheaded to House of Detention. The dock in Judge Scott's branch of the Police Court had been cleared yesterday of all prisoners but one. Clara Holliday sat dark and gloomy in the corner farthest away from the gaze of the judge and the bailiffs. Clara was charged with larceny in three separate cases. Her counsel had asked a continuance and Judge Scott had ordered the cases postponed until tomorrow. Court was about to be adjourned, when Prosecuting Attorney Mullowny arose and said:

"Judge, this woman in the dock is wearing a hat that we want. It is one of the articles alleged to have been stolen, and while she is being held for trial we think she had better leave the bonnet in the custody of the court."
Clara's hands found their way involuntarily to the handsome brown bonnet reposing so becomingly on her tightly curled tresses. She moved it about nervously, as if to adjust it more perfectly. Judge Scott ordered Clara to take off the onnet and give it to Detective Lacey for safe keeping.

"It ain't the one you's looking for," she said, "but you can have it." Clara went bareheaded to the house of detention.

The officer said that the girl's mother works out all day and late into the night, and knows nothing of what Ellen

When called to the stand Ellen was all tears as she told her story. She said she was going to the house in question to get $2 that had been left there for her by a white man. The girl was before Judge Kimball some time ago and was sentenced to ninety days in the workhouse. The judge decided there was no way to save the girl unless it be by sending her to the reform school, so, much against her will, the youthful criminal was led away to that institution.
